Quantitative evaluation in Spring 2022 (out of 5):

- Instructor rating: 4.39

- Course rating: 4.09

- Encouragement of class participation: 3.91

- Effectiveness in explaining concepts: 4.35

Student comments (unedited):

- Instructor is good at explaining concepts, answering questions, and doesn't overload students with work. Explanations are clear and the instructor provides many examples and ideas.

- Rubaiyat did an amazing job. He is very thorough when explaining concepts.

- Easy to reach to the professor.

- Very knowledgeable in his field and knows what he is talking about. Tries to answer questions of students to the best of his ability.

- Professor Alam is very knowledgeable and always explains concepts thoroughly. The way he teaches the course (by writing on chalkboard, speaking through concepts) is impactful and effective.

- Professor Alam clearly is very passionate about this material and that comes across from the class. Much of the material was cutting edge research and highly relevant to the current discussions surrounding health economics.

- Professor Alam is a clear and concise professor who explained the concepts and expectations in an easily understandable way. I really appreciated how clearly he structured every lesson, exam, and problem set.

- Really effective at teaching concepts and knows all the material well

- I loved this course and professor Alam. I learned a lot about the healthcare markets and the class that was very informative. The way professor structured the class and exams made it really easy to do well if you understood the concepts. Professor alam was awesome and I would love to take another class with him.

- great professor, all explanations were super clear and made the concepts really easy to understand. Really generous grading as well.

- he really cared about students understanding of the topics and gave us a to of useful outside resources to make the class more relevant to the real world. He also encouraged us to critically think in lecture and participate One of my favorite econ classes by far. Amazing professor and instructor.

- Extensively and clearly explains concepts. Grades fairly.

- Thank you Professor Explain concepts well